

The Standing Story Sticks

Exploring stories about place and belonging.

We are hardwired to create story, it is how we come to understand ourselves. It defines who we are and how we connect, or disconnect, to the world around us and people in it.

3 x 3 hr workshops

6 - 9pm Thursdays

14th, 28th February or 14th March

Materials & light supper provided

The Story Sticks will be used to create an installation at the Deans Marsh Festival. Each person will have the opportunity to share their story. This can take any form, poetry, fairytale, haiku, song, interpretive dance, it's up to you. Or, for the more retiring types, your story can simply be written and attached to your stick.

Stories shared, and shared stories create healthy, connected, resilient community.

Contact deb on 0400 716 519 if you have any questions or book through Deans Marsh Cottage.

This project is inspired by ancient traditions of first nations people the world over, Celts to Native American Indians, the Masai to Aboriginal and Torre Strait Islanders.
